Press release: August 2017

SEHTA Partnership with the Mayor of London and MedCity

SEHTA is once again proud to announce that we are continuing our partnership with the Mayor of London's office at the GLA. This is the 3rd year running that we have continued the partnership of running a series of SME business support surgeries, London MedTech Conferences and the continuation of updating the London MedTech Directory and Review in partnership with MedCity.

As Strategic Partners, SEHTA will be providing GLA with advice, industry contacts and access to its wealth of experience in the healthcare sector. It is the vision of the project team to help realise the potential of London as a world-class life science location where SMEs can network more effectively, flourish and help bring health technology benefits to citizens.

Dr David Parry, CEO, SEHTA says "This is a great opportunity for SEHTA to work with the GLA and MedCity. We see London as a place of great potential for companies to access world-class research, leading financial markets and superb health providers. Our innovative health tech and diagnostics SMEs will benefit greatly from the opportunities the project will present to them."
