

Press release: October 2017

New SEHTA Board Members: Prof James Moore, Imperial College London, George Sampson, Quintain Medical & Dr David Tuch, Lightpoint Medical

SEHTA (South East Health Technology Alliance) are pleased to announce that we have appointed 3 new non-executive board members.

Prof James Moore, Imperial College London: Jimmy is the Bagrit and Royal Academy of Engineering Chair in Medical Device Design and Director of Research for the Department of Bioengineering at Imperial College London. He trained as a mechanical engineer and specialises in biomechanics research.

George Sampson, Quintain Medical: George has a vast knowledge and experience with medical product companies, notably APA Parafricta where he was CEO. George was also on the Enteric HTC board and is also a member of the NIHR i4i Product Development Awards Panel. George has worked for companies such as Baxter, Draeger and Stryker as well SMEs.

Dr David Tuch, Founder & CEO, Lightpoint Medical: David is the Founder and CEO of Lightpoint Medical, an innovative medical device company that has developed a ground-breaking imaging technology to guide cancer surgery. Lightpoint Medical have won a number of awards including the Innovation Award at the Medilink UK National Awards in April this year. David has significant experience in medical imaging and pharmaceuticals from his time at GE Healthcare and Novartis.

Nick Rodgers, Chairman of SEHTA said: "We are delighted to appoint Jimmy, George and David to the board. They bring significant expertise covering research, healthcare technology, medtech SMEs and large healthcare businesses. "

ends

Notes for editors

South East Health Technologies Alliance

Founded in 2005, the South East Health Technologies Alliance (SEHTA) is now one of the biggest health technology networking organisations in the country. Since its inception, it has grown to 1300 members from 20 different countries. SEHTA provides significant support to companies, universities and public and private health providers through publicly-funded resources and programmes and private consultancy services. SEHTA has built excellent relationships with Academia, Business and Care/Clinicians and it sees itself in a unique position as the interface between them. The company has particular expertise in digital health.

For further information please click here

Contact

David Parry, Chief Executive Officer
South East Health Technologies Alliance
E: david.parry@sehta.co.uk

For all media enquires please contact

Clare Ansett, Head of Marketing
South East Health Technologies Alliance
E: clare.ansett@sehta.co.uk